

Connecting New

May, 2021

This month I share a poem and painting that view prayer as flowing in the life of love, which is the life of God. I am particularly struck by the very tiny red and green bird that appeared (unconsciously) near the center of the painting, surrounded by and at home in this flow. If you notice anything about the painting that resonates with you, I would appreciate hearing from you.

Pure Prayer

Pure prayer may flow when there's no other choice.
Pure prayer may flow when there's no other way.
Losing yourself completely in love
needs no particular words to think, hear or say.
Pure prayer may flow without the mention of God,
grace, church or the one we adore.
Pure prayer may flow as action,
giving every bit of our lives and more.
Pure prayer is how I aspire to be, live, grow and do,
joining with God, abandoning myself in loving you.

May we live in the flow of goodness and love ever more completely.

Peace and Blessings, Clarence

If this has been forwarded to you and you would like to receive future Connecting New emails, subscribe here. An archive of past emails can be found on the Connecting New page of www.clarenceheller.com. Also, if you do not already receive A Piece of Goodness, a positive and often provoking daily excerpt from one of Clarence's poems, with convenient access to the entire poem for those who wish to engage it, subscribe here.

Visit A Piece of Goodness on social media.

